INTRODUCTION

Milwaukee County offers many programs to support families of children and youth who may have special needs. The child or youth must have a significant disability which is a physical, mental, or emotional limitation which seriously restricts the child's ability to carry out basic living activities such as self-care, learning, communications, mobility and self-direction. Children and youth from ages birth to 22 can receive support services to help them live at home with their family.

Families can access certain services from different agencies throughout the County. We hope this guide will make it easy to locate those services from the different places in Milwaukee County. The guide will provide brief information for each of these programs and how your child can be found eligible for these programs.

The agencies that you may connect with include Milwaukee County Disability Services, Milwaukee County BHD Children and Young Adult Community Services and Wraparound Milwaukee, Katie Beckett Program, and the Social Security Administration.

When you work with these agencies, you will be asked to provide information about your child such as whether your child is on Medicaid, has a diagnosis from a physician, a psychological evaluation or an individualized education plan (IEP) at school.

This Guide is designed as a resource to increase awareness and access to services for Milwaukee African American children with a disability and their families. It is part of DRW's Project EASSY, Equal Access for Special Needs Services for Youth. Disability Rights Wisconsin hopes this guide will give you an easy way to find help for your child or youth and your family. If you have questions about this process, you can contact Disability Rights Wisconsin's intake specialist at 414-773-4646.

This Guide is also available on the DRW website at disabilityrightswi.org

MEDICAID AND CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Medicaid is a public health insurance program that provides coverage for many supports for a child with special needs that may not be covered by private insurance. There are different ways to access Medicaid. This can vary depending on the family's income and assets, and the child's disability.

► Katie Beckett Program

The Katie Beckett Program allows certain children with long-term disabilities, mental illness, or complex medical needs, living at home with their families, to obtain a Wisconsin Medicaid card, sometimes known as card services or Title 19. This program can be in addition to private health insurance. Children who are not eligible for other Medicaid programs because the income or assets of their parents are too high, may be eligible for Medicaid through the Katie Beckett Program. This eligibility determination needs to be completed before a child would be eligible for other programs. It may take up to 6 months to determine disability eligibility.

- Examples of Services: Medical appointments, therapy, medication, durable medical equipment and hospitalization.
 - Eligibility: Milwaukee County residents who are under age 19, live at home with family. Disability determination is required. Katie Beckett consultants can assist with this.
 - Referral process: Contact Katie Beckett Consultants Terry Wojciechowski, Terry.Wojciechowski@wisconsin.gov or Natasha Griffin, NatashaC.Griffin@wisconsin.gov Call 414-345-6338.
 - For more information: www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/kbp/index.htm

► BadgerCare Plus Medicaid

Enrollment in Medicaid is required for many of the programs that serve children with special needs or a disability. BadgerCare Plus is Wisconsin's Medicaid program for lower income families and children.

- Examples of Services: Medicaid coverage
- Eligibility: Lower income families and children
- Referral process:
 - To apply online, go to ACCESS.wi.gov and click on Apply for Benefits
 - You may also contact Milwaukee Enrollment Services (MILES) which provides assistance with applying for benefits, including BadgerCare Plus. Workers can provide assistance to you in person or on the phone. Call 1-888-947-6583

Note: As described above, the Katie Beckett Program can provide an option for children with disabilities to access Medicaid if their parents' income and assets are too high to qualify for BadgerCare Plus Medicaid.

► SSI and Medicaid

Children from birth up to age 18 who have a disability may be eligible to receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. Children who are found eligible for SSI benefits can also get Medicaid.

The child must have a disability or special need that seriously limits activities and is expected to last longer than one year. Families will need to provide information about the child's disability, their treatment, medical records, a list of medications, and a copy of the child's birth certificate to apply.

- Examples of Services: Medicaid and monthly payments.
 - Eligibility: Child must be under 18, or under 22 and regularly attending school. Families must have limited income and assets. A disability determination will be done.
 - Referral process: Call the Social Security Administration at 800-772-1213 to make an appointment to apply. Can also apply online at www.ssa.gov/disability/ or by telephone.

► Autism Services

In Wisconsin, children who have been diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder and need related treatment may be eligible to receive Autism Treatment Services through Medicaid also known as card services, Title 19 or ForwardHealth card. Families may directly contact an Autism Treatment Provider in the area to discuss their child's needs. The provider will need to complete the Medicaid Prior Authorization process to determine if the child is eligible and can benefit from treatment. These services are considered medical services now, like going to the doctor. In addition to autism treatment services, the families may be eligible for long term support services through the Children's Long-Term Support Waiver and Children's Community Options Program, also listed in this guide.

- Examples of Services: Autism treatment services, ABA therapy
- Eligibility: Children who have been diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder and need related treatment
- Referral process: Directly contact an Autism Treatment Provider who will complete the Medicaid Prior Authorization process based on the child's needs.

IMPORTANT THINGS TO KNOW

ELIGIBILITY

- Child must be a resident of Milwaukee County
- Some programs require need for care to be determined by the Children's Long Term Functional Screen.
- Some programs require a mental health diagnosis from a mental health provider.
- Some of the programs in this Guide require the child to be eligible for Medicaid. Medicaid may be obtained through BadgerCare for families that meet the financial eligibility requirements, through SSI or the Katie Beckett program.

SUPPORTS AND SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR EACH PROGRAM

Supports and services vary based on family needs, but these are some common services:

- Service Coordinators and parents work together to develop an individualized support plan for each family.
- Provides connections to community resources
- Some of the most widely used services include counseling, daily living skills training, respite, communication aids, home modifications, adaptive equipment, and medical supplies. Note: This does not cover all services, and services may vary between programs.
- Crisis support services and therapy services are available in some programs.

ADVOCACY TIPS FOR FAMILIES

- When calling to request services, tell the intake person your child has a disability or special needs. You can describe your child's condition but these words will help get you what you need.
- Milwaukee County does not directly provide the services. The County provides some funding and coordination for services. If you ask for a service, you may be told they don't do this. Be persistent.
- When calling an agency, if you are told you need a disability determination for your child ask them for guidance on how you can get this. Note that a disability determination is no longer required for the Children's Long Term Support Waiver program.
- If you aren't able to gather all the documents requested, tell the worker to schedule the home visit and that you need help getting the documents. County workers should be able to help families gather documents that are needed to complete applications for services.
- You have the right to have an Advocate or another person you trust be present during a home visit and to assist you in the process.
- Sometimes families are told there is a waiting list for services, which may discourage you from applying. Although there may be a waiting list for Autism Treatment Providers, at this time there are no waiting lists in Milwaukee County for other programs.
- If you are told your child is not eligible for a program or a service is denied, you have the right to receive a denial notice in writing and to appeal the decision.
- If you have concerns regarding services, you have the right to file a grievance.
- Keep good records of all your communications with the county, and with providers, and copies of the paperwork that has been completed.
- Keep a log of phone calls.
- Follow up with an email of any conversations on the phone.
- If you cannot find an advocate, find another parent, teacher, or friend who might have experience with the county.
- If you are having trouble, ask to speak to a supervisor at Milwaukee County.
- If you choose to file an appeal, grievance or complaint, Disability Rights Wisconsin is able to provide guidance.
- You can also contact the State Department of Health Service and inform them of your concerns with the services you are trying to obtain.

A private non-profit, DRW is charged by Congress to serve as the watchdog for people with disabilities. DRW strives to ensure that all people with disabilities have access to the critical supports and services they need. We do this by fighting the inequities that prevent people from receiving equal access to education, employment, healthcare, transportation, housing, and voting. We defend the rights of people with disabilities to be free of abuse, neglect and discrimination.
