A. DRW VISION STATEMENT

adopted on September 18, 1993

All persons with disabilities and their families shall be empowered to exercise and enjoy the full extent of their rights, and to pursue the greatest possible quality of life.
B. DRW MISSION STATEMENT
adopted on June 11, 2005

DRW challenges systems and society to achieve positive changes in the lives of people with disabilities and their families.
C. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: MOST INCLUSIVE, INTEGRATED SETTING adopted September 17, 2005; revision: June 26, 2010; revision March 15, 2014

People with disabilities will live and work in the most inclusive, integrated setting based on the person’s informed choice, with services and supports they need.
D. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: LIFELONG HOME AND COMMUNITY SUPPORTS
Previously adopted with title: Community Services and Long Term Supports
December 4, 1993; revisions: September 19, 1998; September 17, 2005;
September 25, 2010; September 20, 2014

People with disabilities and their family members and/or allies of the individual’s own choosing will be knowledgeable and be able to access appropriate and high quality local home and community supports, including services and benefits, with:

- self determination
- full, free and informed choice
- individualized design and
- independence and interaction within the entire community to the extent and duration of the individual’s needs.

E. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: CONFRONTING ABUSE AND NEGLECT AND DENIAL OF RIGHTS adopted on March 5, 1994; revisions: June 21, 1997; September 18, 1999; December 1, 2001; September 25, 2010; June 14, 2014

People with disabilities will have a life free of abuse, neglect, harassment, and the denial of their legal rights in all aspects of life, including but not limited to: institutions, home, community, schools, workplaces, correctional facilities, and programs.
DRW's advocacy and other services will be provided to meet the needs of individuals with disabilities regardless of their geographic location within the state of Wisconsin.
DRW will be internally diverse.

DRW will deliver its services with cultural competency.

DRW will make affirmative efforts to engage and advocate for non-discrimination of services to people with disabilities who are of minority status, including those of various races, cultural and ethnic heritages, gender, gender expression and sexual orientation.
H. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: FREE AND APPROPRIATE EDUCATION adopted March 7, 1998; revisions: June 20, 1998 and June 26, 2010

Children and young adults with disabilities will have a free and appropriate education. Priority is given to ensure that children’s rights are not compromised in these areas:

• expulsion, suspension, and other exclusion from school

• timely transition planning which:
  - fosters increased independence;
  - ensures coordination and continuity of services from earliest identification of need to adulthood;

• inclusion in regular education classes in neighborhood schools with a range of services provided to meet the needs of the individual; and

• right to an appropriate education while residing in an institution or correctional setting.
I. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: ACCESSIBILITY BARRIERS adopted March 2, 1996; revisions: June 12, 1999; June 19, 2004; December 3, 2011

All barriers, physical or otherwise, which prevent the opportunities for full participation in community life by people with disabilities, will be eliminated.
Civil commitment will never be used when less restrictive alternatives are adequate to address the risk of harm to the person or others. In order to avoid civil commitment, communities shall offer a continuum of recovery services and supports that provides individuals a substantial and meaningful choice. All persons at risk of civil commitment will be properly advised of their rights and options and provided effective legal representation.

If civilly committed, a person shall live in a healing environment that promotes recovery. Services and supports to persons under civil commitment shall adhere to the fundamental components of recovery and the principles of person-centered planning and trauma-informed care.

Individuals under civil commitment shall have the right to refuse particular medications and treatment. Civil commitment should last for the shortest time possible; commitments should not be extended without a finding of current dangerousness and that there are no less restrictive alternatives. Treatment, services, and supports for persons civilly committed will support maximal reintegration and timely return to the community living situation of the individual’s choice.
K. PRIORITY ENDS STATEMENT: GUARDIANSHIP AND PROTECTIVE PLACEMENT adopted: June 20, 1998; revision: December 4, 2010

Guardianship and protective placement for people with disabilities shall be used only if it allows the person to live as safely and independently as possible in the most inclusive, integrated setting.
The rights of all individuals with disabilities will be protected under state and federal law in juvenile and adult correctional programs and settings by:

- providing treatment and supportive services that meet community standards and which are appropriate to their disability, including adequate screening, assessment, ongoing treatment, education, discharge and transition services;

- appropriately responding to behaviors that are a manifestation of a disability;

- providing effective community options, including diversion and reintegration programs which place individuals in the least restrictive alternative necessary to meet treatment goals, when appropriate, and public safety;

- eliminating discrimination, including profiling, based on race, cultural and ethnic heritages, gender, abilities, sexual orientations, age and religious traditions in correctional settings and providing reasonable accommodations to allow full participation in all available activities.
